

SLAVES TO FASHION

DAILY STYLE BLOG

Contact Us

CATEGORIES

- $50 and Under (339)
- Bags & More (99)
- Baubles & Bling (122)
- Believe it or not (272)
- Best of the Web (234)
- Blogging Babes (64)
- Celebrity style (661)
- Cheap stuff (201)
- Closet disasters (61)
- Deal of the Day (268)
- Designer Dish (212)
- Dos and Don'ts (117)
- Editor's Pick (188)
- Essential Viewing (65)
- Fall Fashion Week 2008 (29)
- Fall Trends (27)
- Fashion Flashback (25)
- Fashion Week (180)
- Fashion Week Fall 2009 (66)
- Fashion scene (244)
- Get the look (187)
- Glamour Girl (98)
- Good jeans (67)
- Help! Does this trend work? (106)
- Model Citizens (82)
- Obsessions (49)
- Outfit Ideas (52)
- Personal Style (250)
- Readers Say... (224)
- Runway Report (120)
- Sales Alert (52)
- Shoes (183)
- Spring 2010 Fashion Week (78)
- Spring Trends (24)
- Stuff I love (88)
- Style Tips (216)
- TGIFUG (20)
- Temptation Island (36)
- This trend must end! (39)
- Trend alert (125)
- Truly Outrageous (10)
- Tweets of the Week (14)
- Wardrobe Essentials (136)

see all blog posts

Let's Talk "Project Runway": Which Work Of Art Are You Most Inspired By?

Friday, 11/ 6/2009 at 4:02 PM

Comments \(17\)

I hate to celebrate someone else's misfortune, but can we just take a minute here to give a little cheer that Christopher was finally auf'd on last night's Project Runway? We bid Gordana farewell, too, which means it's all girls in the finals for the first time ever! Carol Hannah, Irina, and Althea will all head to Bryant Park to show off their collections, but before they do, let's take a minute to talk about last night's episode...

And psst...I've got some cool insider news on the Project Runway front: Irina is launching her spring collection tonight, when singer/songwriter Rachel Fine wears one of her designs on the red carpet at the MacDella Cooper Foundation's 6th Annual Sharing the Light Gala at the Four Seasons here in NYC. If Irina's got her own spring collection, does this mean she didn't win Runway? Or that she did? Let the debate begin!

Sign up for Glamour.com's Style Tips of the Week and Beauty Tip of the Day newsletters!

The designers were challenged to find inspiration at L.A.'s Getty Museum, which made me wonder...what work of art most inspires you? My all-time favorite is a Jackson Pollock painting called The Key, and I can get lost in it for hours. I've never looked at it without seeing something entirely new, and that's what really stirs me about a work of art.

Tell me girls, what's your favorite work of art? If you had to design something based on a painting or sculpture or watercolor, what would you choose? Do you think Carol Hannah, Althea, and Irina did a good job last night with their Getty-inspired creations (above)? Do you think they're the three that deserve a spot in Bryant Park? Who will you be rooting for during the finale? Discuss!

And psst...I've got some cool insider news on the Project Runway front: Irina is launching her spring collection tonight, when singer/songwriter Rachel Fine wears one of her designs on the red carpet at the MacDella Cooper Foundation's 6th Annual Sharing the Light Gala at the Four Seasons here in NYC. If Irina's got her own spring collection, does this mean she didn't win Runway? Or that she did? Let the debate begin!

More Ways to Get Glamour
 You could win $50,000 just for registering or logging in to Glamour.com!
Add Glamour to your iGoogle homepage
Follow Slaves to Fashion on Twitter!

Photos: courtesy of Lifetime

by Tracey Lomrantz

Categories: Essential Viewing